About four o'clock, English, who was accompanied by Mary Suggs, of Paris, and Elsie Knox, of Carlisle, was driving up High street. At the corner of Tenth street he lost control of the machine, which ran on the sidewalk, striking the side of a stable, and badly damaging the car. Both women received severe bruises. English became abusive when questioned by the officers, and was taken to jail.

BOURBON FARM CONDITIONS

Farmers are busy shucking and cribbing corn at this time of the year, and the corn crop is practically the only one needing attention at present. The tobacco in the barns is curing up nicely and most of the growers will be ready to begin stripping the weed in about two weeks. Some of the crops have shown an unusual greenness of the tips, which was probably caused by the early cutting season forced by the late summer drouth, when the crop was placed in the barn to avoid burning up in the field. A few scattered growers have already begun stripping, but most of the farmers feel there is no need for rushing the work.

There have been but few rains of any consequence, and moisture is badly needed. Ponds and streams are very low, and stock water very scarce. Pastures, however, are looking very well.

Hog killing will begin in the next two or three weeks, but most farmers prefer to wait until at least December 1, rather than take a chance of having the meat spoiled.

Practically all seeding has been completed and the wheat is coming up. The crop is looking good and is thick on the ground.

ALLEGED LIQUOR SELLER MUST PROVE INNOCENCE

In cases involving the question of whether liquor is sold in accordance with the law for medical or sacramental purposes or whether it is disposed of by the "bootleg" route the burden of proof rests with the alleged seller and not with the commonwealth, the court of appeals held Friday in affirming the fine and sentence imposed on Paul Smith in the Daviess Circuit Court on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

The commonwealth does not have to prove that the liquor was not sold for sacramental, medicinal, scientific or mechanical purposes, but it devolves upon the seller to show that he had proper authority to sell for the purposes allowed in the prohibition law. The fact that the indictment alleges that the seller disposes of liquor for other than sacramental, medicinal or mechanical purposes does not affect the issue, the court held.

Smith was indicted on a charge of unlawfully selling liquor in his soft drink stand. He was convicted and fined $200 and given a jail sentence of 30 days. He appealed the case on the ground that the commonwealth failed to prove, as it alleged in the indictment, that the liquor was not sold for sacramental, medicinal, scientific or mechanical purposes.

The opinion was handed down by Chief Justice Rollin Hurt.

The Pullman Gives You an Extra Room Without Increasing Your Rent

EVERY family needs extra sleeping quarters in the home in case of emergency. Unexpected visitors come; a nurse may be necessary in any home at any time; you may wish friends to remain over night or to week-end with you; you may wish to accommodate a friend or good neighbor for a night or two; the man of the family may wish a business friend remain over night, whatever the emergency or occasion may be, a Pullman provides the extra sleeping quarters.

Some families may want to rent out a room because of present high rents. Some families may be moving into smaller apartments with fewer sleeping rooms—these are but SOME of the reasons for the immense popularity of the "Pullman."

Here is an opportunity to secure the genuine Pullman, the Davenport Bed that matches up with other furnishings in your home. You can get the same designs, the same woods (mahogany, walnut or oak), the same comfort that you get in the finest stationary davenports.
